LOSES EYE BY FLYING NAIL J. H. Henderson Brought Here From Atlantic City for Operation. Following an accident in the Liberty Cut Glass Works, Egg Harbor, N. J., Joseph Harris Henderson son of Samuel R. Henderson of 2309 De Lancey street, had his left eye removed in the University Hospital last night. The injury was received when a nail flew from a box which Mr. Henderson was opening in the shipping room of the glass works. He was taken to the Atlantic City Hospital and later removed to this city, where Dr. G. E. deSchweinitz decided that the operation was necessary.

Obituary of Catherine Eckhardt

Catherine Louise Henderson Eckhardt. Catherine Eckhardt died November 30, 2007. She is survived by her husband of 65 years, August Eckhardt; her children, James and Patricia Eckhardt; her grandchildren, Marc and Amy Eckhardt; and her sister, Florence Henderson. Catherine was born on October 30, 1917 in Egg Harbor City, NJ. She and August met in Washington, D.C. where she worked for the State Department. She transferred to the Coordinator of Information during World War II. When her husband returned from service in the Navy, they moved to Wisconsin. They spent many years in Madison, WI, before moving to Tucson in 1972. For the last six years, they have been residents of Amber Lights Retirement Community. She was exceedingly caring (through her life she volunteered for church work, Meals on Wheels, and the like); she had a great sense of humor (she laughed when she reported to her husband that she had won the "cover-all" in what turned out to be her last Bingo game); and she had an interest in everything. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Tucson.

In lieu of flowers, please make your gift to an organization of your choice.

Obituary of August Eckhardt

August Gottlieb Eckhardt. August Gottlieb Eckhardt died April 23, 2008, in Tucson, AZ. August was born on August 8, 1917 in Sylvan, WI. He met Catherine, his wife of 65 years, in Washington, D.C. and they were married on June 26, 1942. After August returned from service in the Navy, they moved to Wisconsin where he practiced law and was a member of the University of Wisconsin Law School faculty from 1954-1972. That year, he joined the College of Law of the University of Arizona in Tucson where he served until 1989. He authored "Eckhardt's Workbook for Wisconsin Estate Planners" in 1961 and "A Model for Continuing Legal Education: Structure, Methods, and Curriculum" in 1980. His passion in later years was World Peace Through Law, for which he strived both personally and professionally. For the last several years, the Eckhardts were residents of Amber Lights Retirement Community in Tucson. August was preceded in death by his wife, Catherine. Survivors include children, James and Patricia Eckhardt; and grandchildren, Marc and Amy Eckhardt. In lieu of flowers, please make your gift to an organization of your choice.

G. Jean Henderson Wiegand

Jean Henderson Wiegand died in Raleigh on Saturday, February 26. Jean had continued to live her life with love, grace and dignity in the face of a ten-year struggle with cancer. As she wished, she surrendered her final battle at her home surrounded by her beloved family.

Jean was born Gloria Jean Henderson in Egg Harbor City, New Jersey where she was raised. She was one of the first class of Women Marines at Hunters College, working primarily in Recruiting during World War II. She completed her military career with an assignment at the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, DC where she was the typist of the Japanese surrender papers.

Jean married Federick G. Wiegand in 1945, and made her life-long career one of caring for her husband and four children. She created homes and built friendships in many different states through her husband's Naval career until the Wiegand family settled permanently in Raleigh in 1969.

Jean's first love and proudest accomplishment was her family, but she discovered a passion for art in Raleigh at the North Carolina Museum of Art, where she was a docent for more than 25 years. Jean pursued her avid interest in art through study and travel, making life-long friends in the process. Another great source of joy for Jean since coming to North Carolina was indulging her love for the ocean in her frequent visits to Atlantic Beach.

Jean's passing leaves so many to cherish both the memories of her wonderful life and the lasting impact she made on us through the generous gift of her love: devoted husband of 54 years, Dr. Frederick G. Wiegand; her daughter, Ms. Lee Wiegand of Raleigh; her son, Dr. Steven Wiegand, his wife, Beth and their children Katie, Emily, and Rebecca of Raleigh; her son, Dr. Paul Wiegand, his wife Giannina and their children Mike, Zachary and Sarah of Durham; her daughter Ms. Joyce Wiegand, her husband Tim Morton and their children, Davis and Evan of Raleigh; her sister Duke Henderson of New Jersey; her sister Catherine Eckhardt of Arizona; her sister-in-law, Margaret Henderson of New Jersey; her nieces and nephews; and many other dear friends.

We will honor Jean's life with an 11:00 am memorial service at Pullen Memorial Baptist Church on Hillsborough Street in Raleigh on Wednesday, March 1. The service will be officiated by Dr. Mahan Siler.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations in Jean's memory to the North Carolina Museum of Art.

Arrangements by the Cremation Society of the Carolinas.

Frederick G. Wiegand Capt USN (Ret) MD, HMD, FACOBGYN

October 21, 1921 - February 10, 2017

Frederick Wiegand, beloved father, grandfather and great grandfather, died in his Raleigh home at age 95 on February 10th, 2017. Fred was educated in Clifton, NJ schools, Blair Academy, Yale University, and Hahnemann Medical College.

Graduating from medical school during World War II, Fred joined the regular US Navy and stayed for twenty-one years through World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War. Aside from a two-year Korean War assignment as the Senior Medical Officer on the USS Shenandoah, his work in the Navy consisted of providing obstetrical and gynecological care to Navy personnel and military dependents. Fred's US Navy medical services included teaching responsibilities as the Chief of Gynecology for the resident training program at the US Naval Hospital in Portsmouth, VA and as the Director of the residency training program at the US Naval Hospital in Chelsea, MA. While stationed in Chelsea, Fred had reciprocal teaching experience as Assistant Clinical Professor at Boston University School of Medicine and as a clinical instructor at Tufts University School of Medicine.

Following retirement from the Navy as a Captain, Fred spent five years in California in private practice until he decided to return to teaching in North Carolina. He became the Director of the OBGYN teaching service at Wake County Memorial Hospital (now WakeMed) in Raleigh where medical students and OBGYN residents from UNC-CH were sent for their practical training. As such, he was a faculty member of the UNC School of Medicine, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. His work with Wake and UNC-CH included the first obstetrical ultrasounds, the first laparoscopic surgeries and the first colposcopies for early detection of uterine cancer. One of Fred's proudest moments was in 1982 when he received the OBGYN Chief Residents' Award for excellence in resident teaching. He retired as a tenured Associate Professor from UNC and Wake after forty years in medicine.

According to Fred, "the smartest thing he ever did was to marry Jean Henderson, the spark plug of his family." They met and married during WWII when Jean was in the first class of women Marines. She finished her military career stationed in the Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, where she typed the WWII Japanese surrender papers in 1945. They were married for fifty-four wonderful years that included fourteen changes of residence and the raising of four children, all supervised by Jean. After all of their relocations from US coast to coast, they chose Raleigh to be their permanent home in 1969 and enjoyed decades of world travel and vacationing at Atlantic Beach, NC.

Fred always acted with integrity and thoughtful kindness. He was a natural teacher, a loyal friend, a devoted husband and an encouraging father and grandfather. He lived all of his days with purpose, sharing himself with warmth, generosity and humor. Fred cheered all he met and his well-lived life has been an inspiration to all who loved him.

Predeceased by his true love Jean in 2000, Fred was greatly cherished by his family and is survived by his four children; eight grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

We will celebrate Fred's life with a memorial service at White Memorial Presbyterian Church, 1704 Oberlin Rd., Raleigh, NC 27608 on Friday, February 24th, 2017 at 2:00.

Fred's children wish to thank his private duty caregivers, the Transitions LifeCare team, and the staff at Whitaker Glen for their generous attention and care as we helped Dad complete the last phase of his remarkable life journey.
