*Robert was one of the proprietors of Dunstable, as well as of Marblehead. On the old records at Nashua may be found the following record: "May 14, 1700, at a general meeting at Mr. James Fowler's house, in Woburn, there were present—Capt. Robert Bartlett, Mr. William Beal, Mr. Robert Morgan, and Mr. Joseph Morgan, on the behalf of themselves, and some other Marblehead gentlemen, and Beverly; and Mr. Thomas Weed, and John Cummings, Clerk of Dunstable, on behalf of the proprietors of Dunstable. Capt. Robert Bartlett was unanimously chosen Moderator of the meeting." Nothing seems to have been recorded of the proceedings of this meeting except "to acquit Capt. Bartlett of all dues and demands belonging to the minister of Dunstable, by virtue of rates made by the Selectmen, July 7, 1698." Robert's name appears elsewhere on the records as a proprietor.—[Ed.]

180 MARBLEHEAD IN THE YEAR 1700. No. 2.

Robert Bartlett and Nathaniel Walton and Martha Munjoy lots. These lots belonged to Rev. William Walton of Marblehead very early. He died in October, 1668, intestate, leaving widow Elizabeth and several children. The next year the county court ordered that the widow should have the use of the estate as long as she lived. She was appointed administratrix of the estate, and in that capacity, for forty pounds worth of debts due to creditors of the estate, paid by her son Nathaniel Walton and her daughter widow Martha Munjoy, conveyed to them the eastern half of the premises, with the old barn thereon, being the lot on the map marked Nathaniel Walton and Martha Munjoy, April 18, 1677;* and they owned it in 1700.

Rev. William Walton's widow died in 1682, and the surviving children agreed, March 29, 1683, that their sister Mary's husband, Capt. Robert Bartlett of Marblehead, yeoman and fisherman, should have one half of this lot where his dwelling stood, he having paid twenty pounds of debts due creditors of Mr. Walton's estate, and the other half of this lot to said Nathaniel and Martha, they to satisfy the remaining creditors. In 1700, the whole title to this lot was apparently in Captain Bartlett. Nothing more is known of the Bartlett house or its location.
